> One by one the props which help to hold up Mahone, are dropping out. The Wytheville Despatch, heretofore a solid readjuster organ, announces that it is sick of Mahone and the spoils system, and will support the alliance no longer. This is the second newspaper desertion which Mahone has had to face within a week. Mahone's personal and favorite organ Richmond White, is gooded to from sy at the recent developments which foretell so much. It says of Parson Massey, the chief of serters, he ' was always tricky—a jumping beas, whom no fence was yet able to hold, and disposes of Lybrook and Newberry with the remark that they have "always been recoguized as cranky and unreliable." Of Hale ed with cranks and Bourlon democrats to defest some of Gen. Mahoue's most important of their trains. It is said when close ones and engines in the cabe came in use, Billy, to facilitate communication with the engineer, ran a cord forward, and to its end at the tender tauspended a saise to rood. Then he notified the engineer of his system of signals by raising and lowering the attek of weed. But the engineer thought he ought to be boss of the train and he chacked that piece of wood into the irrebox. Next sirp billy tied another stick of wood to the cord and gave the engineer notice that there would be sumpbory whipped if it was seafar removed. At the end of the trip lile stick was unissing, and the conductor and ongineer had a big fight. Billy won, and ever since relivary engineers have had to be, the conductors' signals. But it a stick of wood was soon dispensed with, and the conductors' cord was attached to the engine foll."
